1. In 1950, 200 decarees of land two kilometers east of Nevrokop were appropriated for an airfield. In April 1951, 150 trudovaks began leveling with 10 machines.
2. As of the first week in April 1952, 100 decarees of land were added. One hundred trudovaks arrived and started leveling work; 100 additional trudovaks were expected to arrive in April 1952. From 1 to 15 April, trucks continuously brought gravel, sand, cement, iron, and lumber to the field from Nevrokop.
3. According to rumor, gasoline dumps at the field were being rebuilt; only farmers possessing land adjacent to the field were allowed to move in the construction area.
